

Abstract of the Disclosure

A fireplace surround having the appearance of dry-stacked natural stone is composed of three single pieces, each of which appears to be composed of a plurality of pieces of stone. Additional pieces may optionally be added to increase the size of the surround. A method of creating masters for the pieces, as well as a method of forming the pieces of the surround, are also disclosed.

5